Benefits for SACPAS Student Members

The San Antonio CPA Society wants to help you meet the people you need to know to make your professional dreams come true -- and here is what they have to offer...

1) Career Awareness — internship opportunities, shadowing, careers in accounting, getting a job

They offer office tours to major employers on a regular basis

You can Post your resume on the SACPAS website at no charge as an SACPAS student or candidate member. Also you can review the ever-changing listings of positions available and internships.

2) Networking Opportunities — connecting with current CPAs and those working toward certification; socialize with other students in your chosen field

The SACPAS Young Accounting Professionals (YAP) group is made up on CPAs, candidates and accounting students between the ages of 22 and 35 who meet to socialize, network, perform community service and have fun. They host "YAPPY Hour" on a regular basis.

3) Community Involvement — volunteering to benefit nonprofit organizations

Be an elf and help us collect those full bins of toys in early December. Morning and afternoon shifts available.

Join several hundred SACPAS members and community volunteers who put on the annual Funlympics benefiting underprivileged Bexar County children on a Saturday in July.

4) Apply soon for 2015-16 SACPAS scholarship

Applications, eligibility requirements and submission details for one of up to five San Antonio CPA Society scholarships for the 2015-16 academic year will be available on September 26, 2014. Remember that the deadline to apply is March 31, 2016.

5) Student Internships

A great place for college students and grads to begin their internship search. Students can post resumes and search for internships. Employers can post internships and search qualified local student resumes. Free to members.

5) And possibly the best reason to be a student member...

... is the Accounting Excellence Awards and Meet the Firms Luncheon, which is only open to SACPAS student and candidate members. There is no cost to current student and candidate members to attend; however, advance registration is a must for this event.
